

What's next? The SecureCare III tele-interview guide

Thank you for choosing Securian Financial for your individual long-term care needs. Now that you have submitted an application for SecureCare III, what's next?

Schedule your tele-interview

Once your application is in good order and has been sent to underwriting, you will be contacted to schedule your tele-interview. If you provided a cell phone number and/or email address on the application, you will be contacted by text message or email (or both) directing you to schedule a tele-interview via our online portal or by calling an assessment services representative. If you miss either of these messages - don't worry! We'll follow up with a reminder text and/or email within 24 hours. And if we still haven't heard from you 24 hours after that, we'll call you by phone.

If you did not provide a cell phone number or email address on your application, an assessment services representative will call you to schedule your tele-interview. If you miss our phone call, you can either call us back or use our online portal to schedule your appointment. Our voicemail will include the contact information for both options.

Using our online scheduling portal:

1. To enter the portal, you just need to enter your name as it appears on your application and your date of birth. (Please note: we'll send you the portal's web address when our underwriting department receives your application in good order.)
2. You'll need to select a date and time to check the timeslot's availability. Times will be shown in the same time zone as the home address listed on your application.
3. Once you've selected an available timeslot, you'll be taken to a summary page and you will need to confirm the details of your appointment are correct to complete the scheduling process.
4. You will receive a confirmation email containing your appointment details and a confirmation number, which can be used if you need to change your appointment.

Complete your tele-interview online

Talk to your financial professional to learn how!

Please note

Calls may begin up to 30 minutes after the scheduled interview time – please allow for this window of time.

Receive a call from an underwriting representative

The tele-interview helps determine your insurability by gathering important information about your personal and medical history.

Clarifying your medical history and providing additional details will help ensure our evaluation is as accurate as possible.

Complete a cognitive assessment if you're age 56 or older

If you are age 56 or older, you are required to complete a cognitive assessment.

A cognitive assessment may also be required if you're younger than age 56, based on your tele-interview results.

Please note: Your cognitive assessment will be considered invalid if you take notes or write anything down as it's conducted.

Complete final underwriting requirements

We may require additional information after your tele-interview. In some cases, this information may be obtained through a follow-up phone call; in others, medical records may be ordered. Lab results or additional exams are not required.

What can you expect during the tele-interview?

Your phone interview may take about an hour, but it may run longer depending on your specific personal and medical history.

During the interview, the representative is required to read from a script and ask specific questions regarding your medical and prescription history. This can make the conversation feel a little formal at times, but it helps ensure all the necessary information is collected as efficiently and accurately as possible.

Please prepare to discuss the following during your interview:

- Foreign travel or residence
- Military service
- Sports and hobbies (e.g., piloting, sky diving, rock climbing, combat sports, car racing)
- Driving activity/history
- Chemical or substance use
- Living arrangements
- Physical measurements/ changes in weight
- Family history (immediate members only)
- Other activities, volunteer work and exercise
