Ownership Change

According to the Internal Revenue Service (IRS), an ownership change to someone other than a spouse is a reportable tax event to the current owner, for the current tax year, of the unreported interest. If the change is to or from a trust, it is a reportable tax event only if the current Tax Identification Number is changing.

Please select the type of ownership change:

☐ Taxable ownership change - unreported interest will be taxable to the current owner

Or

☐ Non-taxable ownership change

Note:

- If changing to a trust, include a completed Certification of Trustee Authority (F84972).
- This owner/annuitant change will not change the beneficiary designation. If you desire to change the beneficiary, please complete the Beneficiary Change Request form (F58397).
- If there is an Estate Enhancement Benefit (EEB) rider on this contract, the EEB calculation will continue to be based on the age of the original owner as of the contract's issue date.
- If there is a Guaranteed Income Provider Benefit rider on this contract, it will now be based on the age of the new owner/annuitant.
- If there is a Guaranteed Minimum Income Benefit rider on this contract, the rider will terminate upon ownership change.
- If your contract has a Guaranteed Living Withdrawal Benefit - Single rider option, the rider will terminate upon ownership change.
- If your contract has a Guaranteed Living Withdrawal Benefit - Joint rider option, the rider will terminate if the ownership change results in a change to any of the designated lives.
